Passionate and dedicated student with a rich background in full-stack development, showcasing expertise in both ReactJS and Native JavaScript, along with proficiency in HTML, CSS, Node.js, and Express.js. Well-versed in database management with experience in SQL and MongoDB. Adept at programming in languages such as Python, Java, C, and C++.

Extensive participation in hackathons has honed my ability to think creatively, work efficiently under pressure, and collaborate seamlessly with diverse teams. The hackathon environment has served as a dynamic testing ground for innovative ideas, fostering rapid prototyping and agile problem-solving. This hands-on experience has not only enhanced my technical skills but has also instilled in me a deep appreciation for effective communication, enabling me to articulate complex ideas concisely.

Additionally, I have embraced the ever-evolving landscape of technology by expanding my repertoire to include TypeScript and Next.js. As an aspiring learner, I am venturing into the realm of AI tools, reflecting my commitment to continuous growth and staying at the forefront of technological advancements. My journey as a student actively involved in building projects and participating in hackathons underscores not only technical proficiency but also a holistic set of skills crucial for success in the dynamic field of technology and innovation.
